THE PACE QUICKENS

The New Age Movement seems to be moving at an almost dizzying pace. The World Instant of Cooperation, Shirley MacLaine's television mini-series, televised "channelings," the soon coming World Harmonic Convergence, global events of all types, including global religious events, the sweep of "dominion theology", etc., ad nauseum, seem to be dominating the news these days. It is difficult to keep apace of it all. The prophecy in Daniel was that the final dictator and his system "wore out the saints of the Most High." Many days I feel this is an apt description of my mental state — not that I am claiming sainthood — just that I am worn out! Fortunately, the scriptures say that "he who waits upon the Lord shall renew his strength." I'm waiting!

The only difference between the New Age Movement and a full-court press, a defense tactic deadly to opposition in basketball is that a full-court press is defensive. The New Age Movement is very much on the offensive. Its practitioners have taken on a militancy that is deadly in its aim and frightening. They are pressing their advantage through a variety of forms within the corporate, religious, educational, and entertainment worlds.

J. PETER GRACE AND THE NEW AGE MOVEMENT

Q. Why would a many times over multi-millionaire go to a hippie commune in Colorado to speak to a New Age gathering?

A. Because it most likely is a cause he deeply believes in.

The wealthy industrialist speaker at John Denver's second annual "Choices for the Future" symposium was J. Peter Grace, head of the Grace Commission and the massive W. R. Grace & Company.

The New Age event was held at John Denver's Colorado based Windstar Foundation, near Snowmass, Colorado, June 12-14. Other speakers were Carol-Goran Heden; Joan Holmes (Global Executive Director, The Hunger Project); Jean-Michel Cousteau; Fritjof Capra; Michio Kushi; Jean Houston; Chungliang Al Huang and Andreas Vollenwieder; Vivienne Verdon-Roe; Thomas Crum; Dennis Weaver; Bob Samples; Dick Gregory; Russell Peterson; Edgar Mitchell; and Janet Sheldon.

To express it as politely as possible, Grace gets around! Interestingly, Pat Robertson was a former employee of Grace.

On page 14 of SHOUT IT FROM THE ROOFTOPS Robertson said he had been a "troubleshooter" for W. R. Grace & Company in South America:

"Things just didn't seem to be adding up. My father, as U.S. Senator from Virginia and chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee, was one of the most powerful men in the nation. I had a proud Southern heritage — honor grad from military prep school, Golden Gloves boxer, Phi Beta Kappa at Washington and Lee [NOTE: Eustace Mullins notes on page 8 of his autobiographical, A WRIT FOR MARTYRS, that his college classmates included "evangelist Pat Robertson", Marine combat officer in Korea, law degree from Yale, trouble-shooter for the W. R. Grace Company in South America ...]

Dede Robertson expressed it this way in her book, MY GOD WILL SUPPLY:

"Even before graduation Pat accepted an excellent job with the W. R. Grace conglomerate. In June 1955, when he received his law degree, he was moved to New York City."

Robertson slightly amplified some of this information in AMERICA'S DATES WITH DESTINY:

"I should have been happy in the business world. There was unlimited opportunity. I had a lovely wife, a growing family, and an apartment overlooking New York Harbor. I represented W. R. Grace in projects in South America. Temporarily, I stayed active in politics. ..."

Grace heads the United States division of a super-secret organization of international elite, the Knights of Malta, Order of St. John of Jerusalem. As head of such, he naturally has close ties to Pope John Paul II who has highly praised his work.

J. Peter Grace is also evidently close to the leadership of Hillsdale College. Although Hillsdale has a distinctly conservative public image, it has been known to tolerate, perhaps even overtly encourage New Age Movement activity. Hillsdale's Shavano Institute has featured such speakers as Marilyn Ferguson, William Irwin Thompson, and Barbara Marx Hubbard. More recently, it has been a driving force towards securing conservative acceptance of something called "Privatization." Much of my nervousness over this development - which would take many vital governmental services and put them into the hands of private developers and entrepreneurs stems from the fact that its primary pusher with President Reagan has been Willard Garvey of Wichita, Kansas, a super-wealthy supporter of New Age causes, such as the Garvey Center. We will have more on this in future issues of THE MONITOR.

Marilyn Ferguson said in a Detroit Unity Temple speech in early summer of 1982 that when the New Age came it would not necessarily be in the form of tofu stands and vegetarian restaurants - that it very well could come, instead, in the form of major corporate policy changes.

She might well have added that it would also come with conservative trappings.

One of those evidently helping to bring it about is J. Peter Grace. He has other interesting ties besides those of the conservative political community and mainstream New Age Movement. Grace has Nazi ties as well.

Those ties are with former officials of German conglomerate I. G. Farben. Farben operated with the distinct advantage of very economical operating expenses. What made the difference for them was cheap labor - very cheap labor. One might even say it was a real steal! Specifically, they operated with slave labor from a highly captive audience. They built a plant right within the Auschwitz grounds that employed 140,000 prisoners at a time. One of its officials was Otto Ambros. He was to later stand trial before the Nuremberg Tribunal for his role in German war crimes. Even while the trial was proceeding, Ambros was recruited as part of something called "Project Paperclip." He was sentenced at Nuremberg to eight years in prison for his war crimes. But, thanks to the intervention of J. Peter Grace, he was released and allowed to emigrate to the United States after serving only three years. This occurred even though Nazi war criminals were officially banned from entering the United States. But, once again, Grace's intervention removed this barrier to Ambros's entry here.

Ambros was not the only beneficiary of Grace's largesse towards convicted Nazis. Friedrich Karl Flick was an important financier of the Nazi regime. He was so impressed by Goerings' prediction that there would be no more elections after the March 5, 1933 ones in Germany that he added 200 thousand marks to his already generous contributions. The Nuremberg tribunal found him guilty of using slave labor and aiding the SS. Flick was sentenced to seven years by the Nuremberg tribunal. Flick, obviously on good terms with J. Peter Grace, easily found a spot for his son and heir-apparent. The boy was sent to the United States to train for the W. R. Grace Company.

In the past few years, Grace has gained increasing respectability as the head of President Reagan's Private Sector Survey on Cost Cutting J. Peter Grace, Chairman. This is more commonly known as "The Grace Commission." It appears that their solutions to the high costs of government are again, privatization.

Grace says in his preface to the Commission's report:

"Our work has resulted in 2,478 recommendations designed to bring about cost savings of $424.4 billion over three years, cash accelerations of $66 billion over a similar period, and overall managerial improvements."

He projects that these recommendations would save $1.9 trillion PER YEAR by the year 2000. On the negative side, he posits a $10.2 trillion deficit in the 1990's if his Commission's recommendations are not accepted.

Obviously, such a savings would be attractive and such a deficit would be horrendous. But, is there a hidden agenda to Grace's recommendations?

Grace also infers that there is quite a propaganda drive needed to make the needed "reforms":

The ultimate impact of what we have proposed will depend on whether the American taxpayer can be persuaded that the problems are real and serious, the need for action pressing, the possibilities for reform promising, and the time for action at hand. If successful, then those same citizens can be depended upon to let their elected representatives and appointed officials know that 'business as usual' in the Federal Government can no longer be tolerated, and that rapid and extensive reforms must be instituted.

Not unexpectedly, Grace adds that these are:

"in hopes of stimulating just such a broadly based consensus for change(page 1, WAR ON WASTE: PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE SECTOR SURVEY ON COST CONTROL, J. Peter Grace Chairman."

Of the drastic "reforms" Grace urges, he says:

"Some of the recommendations made by PPSS have been made before. Others are entirely new. Regardless of their origins, the focus must now be on implementation. The current economic trends are simply too serious to delay action any longer."

This sounds amazingly like something else I read somewhere — Oh, yes, it is from Jeremy Rifkin's Bantam New Age series book, ENTROPY:

Today we are being forced to make a transition from the Industrial Age of nonrenewable resources to a new and still undefined age based once again on renewable sources of energy, and we will have to do so in little more than one generation. The radical change in world view required to make this transition will have to be accomplished virtually overnight. There will be no time for polite debate, subtle compromise, or momentary equivocation. To succeed will require a zealous determination — a militancy, if you will — of herculean proportion.

The book of Daniel foretold just such a militancy coming at the close of earthly time:

Then I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was diverse from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass; which devoured, brake [broke] in pieces, and stamped the residue with his feet; And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell; even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spake very great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows. I beheld, and the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them.

J. Peter Grace and his Commission have expressed many concerns about a cash economy. The introduction to the Grace Commission report says:

"Another one-third of all their taxes escapes collection from others as the underground economy blossoms in direct proportion to tax increases and places even more pressure on law abiding taxpayers, promoting still more underground economy — a vicious cycle that must be broken."

This could well be an important rationale the cashless society (computerized barter economy) that the New Agers favor. The Book of Revelation so clearly prophesies one as well.

NEW AGE TACTICS

LOVEBOMBING

I find many Christians are failing to speak out against obvious New Age abuses such as calls for cleansing actions and destruction of Christianity, because they feel they are "witnessing." Many New Agers are aware of this and are attempting to exploit the situation to prolong the silence of their Christian neighbors, to the detriment of others likely to be ensnared by New Age "lovebombing" techniques of overfriendliness with an ulterior motive.

My experience with New Agers leaving the New Age Movement is that they usually do so within a very short time after a Christian witness, if they are going to leave it. Many New Agers feel themselves spiritually and intellectually superior to Christians. They operate on a basis of "think globally, act locally." Consequently, they will be friendlier than friendly to their Christian and other neighbors and neutralize them by being "the girl/boy next door." Many Christians have been amazed when I have come into their area and reported of internationally significant New Age operations right in their towns. (Example, IN CONTEXT MAGAZINE, Sequim, Washington.) In the Sequim case, I read paragraphs from a prominent New Age magazine published in that town, by the son-in-law of prominent Theosophical Society officials. Those paragraphs called for a New Age revolution that included bloodshed. A young lady in the audience hugged the publisher, who professed innocence to her. (I never met a con man in the years of my practice of law who did not profess innocence!) She was afraid that by exposing their teachings, we had spoiled her "witnessing." I also heard there of parents participating in "Peace Child", an important New Age project, for the sake of "witnessing." In Bellingham, Washington, near the United States, Canadian border, I debated a New Age channeler who told the audience she had just come from meeting with Barbara Marx Hubbard and that we didn't have to have the "cleansing action" for the world to receive the "New Christ." "If everybody will cooperate, then he can come without bloodshed," she continued. A young man in the audience approached me. He was incredulous at what he had just heard. This channeler was his next door neighbor, and he had been witnessing to her for a very long time. What was actually taking place, in this case, was that she was stringing him along, neutralizing him for a very long time.

In the words of my favorite, anonymous philosopher, "GIVE ME A BREAK!"

HOPI PROPHECIES

Ironically, it was David Spangler's first cousin, Sally Spangler, a Catholic Christian from Columbus, Ohio was the first to alert me (1983) to the importance of Hopi prophecies and Native American spiritualities. She saw an article in the Columbus Catholic, which she showed me, telling of a meeting held in the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine in New York City. She was horrified, as was I, to see that this article, appearing in fall of 1982, proudly spoke of how those with the sign of the cross would be beheaded and those with the sign of the swastika would go on to build a new civilization.

Unfortunately, I mislaid that article, and did not have the specific date for ordering a replacement. I looked in New Age books for several years, for a replication of that evidence. Now, that 1987 is here and the New Agers are looking forward to their "planetary convergences" the evidence seems to be surfacing in virtually every New Age bookstore. Plus, I (with the able assistance of Marie Fisher!) found a November 1971 MOTHER EARTH NEWS in a Seattle used bookstore. Appropriate parts of that Plowboy Interview with Native American spokesman Tom Binyaca read as follows:

This is a warning to us also. The sacred land that was put in our trust is being taken away from us and is being destroyed. We are being forced into debt and then forced to sell. The prophecies say that the men in the White Hats will one day tell all the people in this land about what has happened to the Hopi. Whoever now forces his way onto our sacred land will bring great punishment upon his people when the Purifiers come. ... We feel that it is not very long before we will settle down and wait for the Day of Purification. ...

PLOWBOY: Do the children have to go to government schools?

TOM: We're forced to go to those schools and we're forced to go to church too. Everything is forced. It's like a military school.

PLOWBOY: To what churches are you forced to go?

TOM: Presbyterian ... no, not Presbyterian. It's a Protestant church ... and some go to Catholic church. I had to go to school and church and they let me come home in the summer only two or three times until I finished in 1930 ... It's actually a military establishment. ... These are the things that so concern us because this is the way the government starts to change us and tear down our sacred religious structure. ... The government and the BIA know that the Hopis have survived as farmers ... with no irrigation ... by performing the ceremonies to bring rain to our area. When we perform the ceremony right it brings rain and we have plenty of corn. We're able to take care of ourselves that way. ... Now the government is trying to destroy our religion by doing everything possible to discourage our farming. ... Now many of the young people live away from home in the government schools and never take part in the ceremonies ... And the BIA ... has pressured the young people - the educated ones - to follow the government-sponsored Hopi Tribal Council. And these people have been approaching the many uneducated ones who have been Christianized or brainwashed in the government schools and talking them into signing things that they do not understand. ...

... We've also contacted many who are involved in environmental protection in the government and the state. We've contacted the Sierra Club and we're in touch with the Friends of the Earth and a group in New Mexico. ... We finally found out that there's a big plan to industrialize the whole Four Corners area ... There's really a danger if we do not stop this development. Bad things are gonna happen there very fast. But the main thing we're trying to do is impress on all tribes and all races of people that we've come to a dangerous point now. If we go on this way much longer ... we will be destroyed. ... We will see men begin to laugh at their religious leaders and assassinate their high leaders. Children will lie and parents will neglect their children. Life will be so corrupted by man. We know that in another world it was like this and that world was destroyed when man turned away from the Great Spirit and Nature. Man brought that life to an end and was destroyed by the power of the Great Spirit. Very few people came out of that and we who are living on this earth today are descendants of those people. We were warned that we must not do it again but we are headed for the same thing once more.

The Hopis knew it would come when man began to invent many things and we see inventions of all kinds now. The Hopis knew about cars, about airplanes ... the hydrogen bomb. They knew what would happen if we were ever allowed to drop one of them on the ground. We've seen those things happen and we know that this land is right for the planting of destruction.

PLOWBOY: Do you think there's any chance for reversal?

TOM: There's a chance, according to our prophecy, if some people - whether Indian or some other race here with us - realizes that we need to keep our religious and spiritual teachings and hold on to them. Otherwise we're just going to destroy ourselves with what we invent ... The universe is set up in a certain way that is kept in balance. Once we've disturbed even a little of it, we'll cause a chain reaction all over the universe that we can't stop. We've traveled to many areas explaining this to people and we've tried to give this message to the United Nations and members of the Senate and Congress ...

PLOWBOY: This destruction you're talking about ... will there be survivors? Will the human race continue?

TOM: There will be a great destruction because the Great Spirit tells us that another world will end like the last one that was destroyed before we came here. We were warned not to do it again - not to turn from the path that He laid down for us - or we would come to where we just can't control ourselves. But we have not listened, so to keep us from totally destroying this life, there are three people - or nations - who are commissioned to bring purification upon this continent. They will come here quickly one day and just paralyze this earth. All the power that we have - the machines and everything - will stop and they will conquer the land.

This land, you see, is being held by spiritual principles or spiritual instructions from the Great Spirit. We call the first people here "Indians" ... which is not the right name for them. They were the first people to be planted here to hold this land and live in a spiritual way ... and there are leaders still holding on to this way in different areas. The Hopi leaders are holding on to it.

So once the Purifiers have conquered the land they will come to look for their brothers who were left here to live in a spiritual way and from whom they were separated a long time ago. They will come and ask some of the few religious leaders who are holding on to the spiritual path, "What are these people doing to you? Have they been giving you their religious and moral principles and their inventions?"

And the righteous will have to tell everything that has been done to them ... all the mistreatment and lying and cheating and killing of the people. According to the pictures we have, the Purifiers will then behead all the evil and wicked people who have taken advantage of and mistreated the good people and that will be the wrongdoers' punishment : ...

PLOWBOY: Who are these purifiers?

TOM: Our leaders say the Purifiers will come from the East but the Hopis don't know who they will be ... only that they will show us a sign or symbol when they rise up or when they shake the world two times. That has already been fulfilled by the two great World Wars and out of it we found the symbols of those people ... THE SWASTIKA SIGN AND THE SUN SYMBOL. And these two did shake the world two times! They have already prepared themselves for the final big conflict on this earth.

And the great one - the last, third one ... the one they refer to in their language as the Man with the Red Cap, or red coat - when he arrives he will have many people with him and he'll have already prepared himself by developing many fields of technology and inventions.

And when the time comes for them to come to this country, they will pool all their power and scientific might and the three of them will come here together as one. It will take one day for them to get complete control of this whole continent and the Western hemisphere. They will have power to paralyze all man-made machines and the machines will not move. All machines of every type will not do any good ...

... And if the Purifiers from the East fail to come ... then the prophecy says that there's one coming from the West already. We don't know who the person is but he will be very slow in coming. He's already coming a long time ago, taking his time and building up slowly ... more people with him, more power, more inventions, more scientific analysis. If the one from the East fails to come to purify ... then this one from the West will come anyway.

And when he comes it'll be like a great wind from the West. The people coming upon our land will be like millions of ants crawling all over ... and the old people say that if that ever happens don't get on the housetop to watch, because they will have no mercy for anyone. They will whip everybody. They will probably destroy many people also. That will be our punishment ... a cleansing to keep us from totally destroying this life.

We hope that many of our good people in all races who are here with us will survive the Day of Purification. We hope they will go into a new life of peace when everything becomes new and all plant life comes out on the ground again ... We will mingle together as one people and there will be no strangers. Everyone will recognize others as brothers and share things. ... There will be no more money system.

PLOWBOY: What do you think about all the people who have seen saucers in the desert lately?

TOM: Hopi prophecy tells of many mysterious things happening. They say that there are many spiritual people - helpers of the Great Spirit - who will be checking on mankind to see where we are in this life. They will inform the Great Spirit when we are ready to let go of the spiritual path and go all out for material things - when we are ready to destroy ourselves and bring about great conflict among ourselves - which, in turn, will inspire the Purifiers to come and put a stop to it. The prophecy says that as we go along we will see more and more of these helpers. But, of course, we don't call them "flying saucers" ... The Hopi know that these things will be coming at this time and that we will see many of them. I've seen many in my travels. Recently we've seen some things ... some of the people have seen something ... As an interpreter I meet many people who claim to have power to do certain things. Some claim to be the white brother we're waiting for and say they have the power to bring the flying saucers down ... but I know that the Hopi leaders do not have faith in such people because we have our own instructions and knowledge of how the Purifiers will come. ...

PAT ROBERTSON

Boldly as a cobra, Pat Robertson again told his 700 Club audience April 29, 1987 that the fulfillment of the prophecy "every eye shall behold him" meant "on television". He did this in a televised discussion with guest hostess, Sharalee Lucas, a covenant member of Earl Paulk's Harvester Chapel Church. Echoing another common "Dominion Theology" line, he also told the audience that it was now time for us to "go in and possess the land."

In another incident, Pat Robertson appeared on Trinity Television's Praise the Lord Program with Paul Crouch on June 29, 1987. This time Pat Robertson brought my name up, contrary to Trinity's usual policy of not naming names. He said, "there's this woman going about the country beating me up - Constance Cumbey - and she says I have to be a New Ager because I am for the right of children to pray in schools. ..."

Those who have listened to me and read my analysis of Pat Robertson know this was nothing less than an intentional falsehood. I have not written Trinity about the matter as yet. I feel Pat Robertson may have been trying to bait me into making a written communication with him, which I also will not do because of his obvious deliberate falsehoods. I am praying over what response to make. In the meantime, it might be a good idea for you to write Paul Crouch at Trinity and ask him to allow us to set the record straight.

As is the usual fate of female co-hosts of the 700 Club, Danuta Soderman has disappeared from the the 700 Club scene, with little or no explanation of her absence. I felt Danuta was in trouble there since Pat Robertson's September, 1985 hosting of Phil Donahue. Danuta bravely stood up to Phil's obvious anti-Christian stance. Butter would not melt in Pat Robertson's mouth towards him. Robertson went so far as to promote Donahue's viciously anti-Christian book, THE HUMAN ANIMAL, saying that book represented a "struggle for faith." Donahue had explained on other television interviews that he wrote that book because we were being terribly unfair to the great pioneers of evolutionary theory, such as Charles Darwin and Huxley by continuing to believe in creation!

When I watched that program (which I videotaped), I told my friends, "you watch Danuta. People playing these games don't like naive people. Danuta will be in real trouble now. She doesn't know the game plan." Sure enough, Danuta's appearance from then on appeared extremely strained, until October 25, 1985, CBN's anniversary program. That was also the date a videotaped interview of New Age activists Amory and Hunter Lovins was featured. The very next day, Danuta was absent. Towards the end of the program, Robertson made a terse statement. He said, "Danuta is not with us today. She and her husband celebrate their wedding anniversary every month and now it's their second anniversary and they are off on their honeymoon. He then said almost menacingly, "it's all very lovely, but it just goes on and on and on." He then said, we'll have a guest hostess next week. The next week there was Susan Howard, the star of Dallas, having words of knowledge right on schedule."

These events coincided with my being approached with Detroit area Freedom Council officials, trying to talk me out of my opposition to Pat Robertson. I showed one, an attorney, these video tapes, and made the statement, "if you really want to know where Pat Robertson is coming from, you watch and see what he does with Danuta." He agreed with me that that would be a good test. Robertson was due in Detroit the very next week. He made a morning appearance at an area inner city church for a presentation of Sing, Spell, Read and Write. The afternoon was spent in a more posh setting — a reception on a yacht. I am informed that the Freedom Council told Pat Robertson what I had said about Danuta. I don't know if that was the governing factor or not, but the very next Monday, there was Danuta, back on the set with a B-I-G smile. I hope she negotiated a substantial raise as well. Now she is gone again, and again, it appears that she is replaced with former Dallas star, Susan Howard. Sharalee Lucas who was guest hosting that show also is gone, with apparently little or no explanation.

NEW AGE MOVEMENT

DISCUSSED IN USA TODAY

The New Age Movement was the cover story in the June 4, 1987 USA today. They work fast. Their reporter called me for my perspective on the afternoon of June 3, 1987. I was pleasantly surprised to see that I was quoted accurately in the story which appeared the very next day, June 4, 1987.

The article was evidently reprinted in the LONDON TIMES. I received a letter from an English writer saying he had read the story in the LONDON TIMES where I was quoted and he was very happy that someone had spoke out on the Nazi-like parallels of the Movement — something he also had noticed.

WILL THE LAST ONE OUT OF IDENTITY PLEASE TURN OUT THE LIGHTS?

I received an irate letter from the publisher of the Network for Citizen Enlightenment (NCE) demanding a retraction of my December article on how New Age cults such as that of Roy Masters' were obviously using Identity groups to promote their goals of abolishing Christian holidays such as Christmas and Good Friday. I said the NCE publication had reprinted an article from Roy Masters' THE ICONOCLAST. Interestingly, I had assumed that NCE's publisher was naive about who Roy Masters was. The letter he sent informed me that he and Roy Masters (who claims he is the world's most perfect man!) had been friends for twelve years. The letter also irately denied they were part of the Identity network. The sample newsletters the man enclosed were full of virulent anti-Jewish articles. It also showed networking was occurring with even Lord's Covenant Church in Phoenix, Arizona, perhaps the country's most obvious Identity Movement center.

As regard's that publisher's threats to sue me unless I retract, let me just say this. I am not afraid of the Anti-Christ, I am not afraid of Benjamin Creme, I am not afraid of Aryan Nations, I am not afraid of the Nazis, I am not afraid of the entire New Age Movement, and I am certainly not afraid of an obvious New Age bridge between Identity and the Constitutionalist Movement. That publisher says he is fighting the New Age Movement. What he is helping to do is spread disinformation about the New Age Movement. It will take more than a threat from a disgruntled Clackamas, Oregon publisher to silence me from speaking out about the New Age Movement — in any of its hydra-headed manifestations! I fear God and nobody but God!

Benjamin Creme

"Maitreya's Message Flowers in the Orient"

According to the June, 1987 "Network News," a publication of Tara Center, Benjamin Creme was a recent "big hit" in the Orient. He received much official attention from Taiwan military and governmental officials. It reported Creme made a seven city tour of Japan and Taiwan. Taiwanese events were reported as follows:

"Then on to Taipei where BC [Benjamin Creme] received a most extraordinary welcome in the form of a banquet attended by generals, advisors to the president, publishers, congressmen, and representatives of the sponsoring groups. He was amazed to learn that both the Reappearance and Transmission books had been translated into Chinese and were being given to everyone who expressed interest. Maitreya's message of peace held special significance for the military leaders who expressed deep concern about world peace and the reunification of China. At the end of the luncheon BC [Benjamin Cremel] was presented with numerous books, photos and a Chiang Kai-shek medal. It is expected that the news of Maitrey's presence will spread quickly to mainland China."

NEW AGE MANAGEMENT TRAINING

TIME TO SUE!

The book of Revelation prophesied that part of the scenario of the end time events would be the trafficking in the souls of men:

And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory. And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird. (Rev. 18:1-2) .. And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her; for no man buyeth their merchandise any more: The merchandise of gold and silver, and precious stones, (verse 12) .. And cinnamon, and odours, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, AND SLAVES, AND SOULS OF MEN. (Verse 13)

This is exactly what is being done under the guise of "changing the corporate culture."

The gloves are now coming off the New Age practitioners and a new form of ruthlessness is being revealed. What makes the drive so intense? Part of it is undoubtedly part of their own delusion and brainwashing. But a significant part of it is motivated by simple greed. The sad truth is that the only religion many of those mandating the training and those selling it is the "(sh green god)" residing in their wallets!

NEWSWEEK featured a story (May 4, 1987) on "Corporate Mind Control." It was subtitled "New Age gurus want to change employee thinking." There I learned more about something that had already been filtering into my office - that California Pacific Bell was compelling all 67,000 of its employees to take blatant Gurdjieffian training known as "Kroning." George Gurdjieff was one of the worst and most evil of the New Age gurus. The training is officially known as "Leadership Development Training."

The justification PAC Bell offers for making this training - admittedly for the purpose of changing the belief structures of their employees is that they gave the training to a control (sample) group and achieved a 21% increase in productivity after altering their beliefs. I suspect that robots might always be a little more efficient than living, breathing human beings. I also suspect that the spirit guides these employees pick up might be well skilled in management and other skills!

Pac Bell has also announced that they intend to finance this training (a whopping $148 million) by passing the charges along to telephone subscribers in the form of a rate increase. There is little chance that the State of California which has established a Governor's Commission on Human Esteem will deny the rate increase. Therefore, it is time for both individuals and subscribers to think of suing - perhaps in individual actions - perhaps in class actions. If ever there was justification for a consumer's class action suit, this is it. (Such suits have been favorite instruments of New Agers for years, to force changes they desire.

If you are forced to take this training, Pacific Institute Training, Dianetics, TM (Transcendental Meditation) or any of the myriads of such courses now being crammed down employee throats, it is time for you to take legal action.

The NEWSWEEK article reported that a Firestone Human Relations director, William (Billy) Gleaton of Albany, Georgia was fired for refusing to administer one of these programs. Gleaton did sue. FIRESTONE promptly settled out of court.

To reiterate what I said in THE HIDDEN DANGERS OF THE RAINBOW, a business organization has stepped beyond their legal boundaries when they compel you to take belief-altering courses. A company could not legally condition hiring, firing, promotion, nor demotion on your willingness or reluctance to attend born-again Protestant services or a Roman Catholic mass. Neither should they be allowed to get away with forcing blatant Hindu/Buddhist, Gurdjieffian or the other New Age religions down an employee's throats. Thank God, we still have a few legal rights left. It well may be time to exercise them.

It may well be time to say, "Okay, I'll see you in court!"

THE TRUE MISSION OF MYSTICISM

According to author Richard Kirby, the ultimate mission of mysticism is:

"The mission of mysticism to the individual is, very simply, to take every individual to the state of Christhood. When that has been achieved with every human being the mission of mysticism to the human race will also have been fulfilled, for we will have become what our spiritual destiny intends for us: a race of Christs, veritably the species HOMO CHRISTUS which lies immanent in HOMO SAPIENS."

The listed publisher of Kirby's book, Holy Trinity Church of London is included in a 1976 New Age directory, THE MANY WAYS OF BEING: A Guide to Spiritual Groups and Growth Centres in Britain, Edited by Stephen Annett. SPCK is a British publishing company. I am trying to learn more about them. I have seen them positively referenced in some InterVarsity published works. If any of you readers have data, I will be happy to receive it. Please note that the Kirby book was published in 1979, two years before I learned about the New Age Movement in 1981.

Other publications of SPCK also deal with the so-called "Christian mysticism." Those listed on the back of the Kirby book were:

- J. Dover Wellman, A PRIEST'S PSYCHIC DIARY;
- Morton T. Kelsey, THE OTHER SIDE OF SILENCE: A GUIDE TO CHRISTIAN MEDITATION;
- David Clark, BASIC COMMUNI-

TIES: TOWARDS AN ALTERNATIVE SOCIETY;

- Tony Jasper, LIVING WORDS FOR NOW.

Pope John Paul II

I don't pretend to know all the factors that went into the Pope's selection of a date and time on which to commence a new Marian year. This Marian year is not a twelve month year. It is, instead, a 15 month and eight day year which was launched on June 6, at 6 p.m. Rome time, or eighteen hundred hours military time.

The event was coordinated by Live Aid producer Tony Verna, clearly a New Age Movement activist. June is, of course, the sixth month of the year. I find it startling that a papal event so significant was launched on the sixth month, the sixth day, at the sixth hour. I also find it disturbing as it is well known that occultists will communicate by such date setting and measures.

If anybody can shed more light on this, I would be very appreciative. I know that the Feast of Pentecost was the next day, on June 7th. But I am mystified as to why the Pope's launching of the Marian year had to begin on such a 6-6-6 pattern. I am not making a definitive statement at this time. I am just puzzled as to why the Marian year has to be 15 months and eight days long. It was launched when the Pope celebrated the global rosary on June 6th at 6 p.m. It will not be over until August 15, 1988.

Perhaps our Catholic friends can help us out on this one!

New Age Movement - Intentionality and History

Now that the New Age Movement is so much out in the open, a myth is circulating about it. That story goes something like this:

"The New Age Movement is unstructured, or, at best, very loosely structured. Its coming together has been accidental - not intentional. Its participants would never seek a New Age messiah - nor would they submit to a New World Order."

Another myth - this one propagated by the EMNR (Evangelical Ministry to New Religions) goes something like this:

"The New Age Movement got its start in 1978 and took its name from the name of a magazine."

No, Virginia, the New Age Movement did not take its name from New Age Magazine! New Age Magazine took its name from the New Age Movement of which it was an integral part.

The New Age Movement got its start with the founding of two parallel organizations in 1875. They officially merged in 1878. They also blended with some older occult strains such as the Rosicrucians and the Transcendentalist Movement. But, official organizing got underway with the founding of The Theosophical Society in New York in 1875 and the Arya Samaj in India the the same year.

One of the fables or most common pieces of disinformation being spread within the church and recently outside as well is that there is no intentional New Age networking. Stephen Annett, compiler of a 1976 English New Age directory, THE MANY WAYS OF BEING lays that notion to rest:

"The chief characteristic of the New Age movement is in the coming together and co-operation between diverse groups, especially within a community. ..."

Theosophical Roots

A large share of political and religious mischief over the past century — on both the right and the left, may be traced directly to the door of the Theosophical Society and their networking friends. From the beginning the Theosophical Society had a not-so-hidden agenda — the promotion of "The Great White Brotherhood" and the new Avatar for the Age of Aquarius.

Madame Blavatsky taught there would be a new world messiah or "Great World Teacher" come into the world. Sensitive Theosophists were looking for signs of such an extraordinary personality and by 1905, they believed they had found him.

Years before this, while Madame Blavatsky was still living, Theosophists were taught by her that a new messiah was coming and it was their job to help prepare the world for him, even though they had not identified "The Vehicle" as yet. They were to help set the stage for the new religious leadership by infiltrating orthodox religion, penetrating it with Eastern teachings, by helping to drive the missionaries from the East, and by proselytizing the West with the teachings of the East. This they did by working through the 1893 World Parliament of Religions, held at the time of the 1893 Chicago World Fair.

They felt that a new economic system was imperative. Theosophists were found, consequently, working both leftwing and rightwing circles for one. On the left, Theosophists such as Annie Besant were found in Fabian Socialist circles and on the right, G. R. S. Mead (Madame Blavatsky's secretary, Ezra Pound, A. R. Orage, etc. were working something called "Social Credit" founded in the offices of Orage's THE NEW AGE. (We will continue more history in the next issue.)

HARMONIC CONVERGENCE

The New Agers will be celebrating their "Harmonic Convergence", an event they feel will mark the official start of the New Age and the end of the Mayan and Aztec calendars. This will happen on August 16-17. I wish this were the only such "convergence." Unfortunately, there are too many harmonic convergences taking place between New Agers and Christians. One such event is The Making of America Conference, coordinated by former W. Steuart McBirnie associate pastor, Donald Sills. Sills is working as actively as can be with the Moonies, the Hare Krishnas, the Scientologists, ad nauseum, in the interests of "religious freedom". He emceed Reverend Moon's "Welcome Home" banquet upon the occasion of the release of Reverend Moon from the prison term he served for tax fraud. Generous infusions of Moonie money inspired many Protestant clergy to think of the case as an attack on all religions. At that banquet, Don Sills (I have it on videotape) said, "it is time we put our theological differences aside and march hand in hand into the future, to lead the world from the darkness of slavery and the light of freedom and the dawning of a New Age."

I introduced myself to Sills at the time of the National Religious Broadcasters Conference in Washington, D.C. on February 1, 1987, in the Exhibit Hall of the Sheraton Hotel, the 1987 NRB convention site. He told me he was doing what he was doing because of "a little deal he had with the Holy Spirit." Disgustedly, I told him he should "tell that to God on Judgment Day." Sills told me he was working with the Moonies and the Scientologists, "because I'm tired of the bigotry!"

The "Hidden Dangers of the Rainbow" shine through Sills' latest venture, "The Making of America Conference." In a song, "So many Voices Sing America's Song," his lyricist, Robert F. Brunner writes, "So many colors in our rainbow choir."

The Moonies are working through other fronts as well. In addition to the Coalition for Religious Freedom (CRF), they are working among many other fronts as the "National Center for Constitutional Studies"; National Center for Prosperity Economics. In a shameful display of spiritual treason, myriads of prominent Christians are lending their name to such blatant Moonie fronts as CAUSA.

This was scripturally condemned. The Bible clearly warned that there was a curse on all who went to Egypt for help against Assyria. God does not need 25 cents worth of Moonie money to build his kingdom!

THE PLOT TO USE THE CHARISMATICS

At first blush, Jeremy Rifkin would hardly seem to be talking about Dominion Theology. After all, he advocates the paradigm of "entropy." Our mission as humans, this New Ager says, is to "dress and keep the earth." Rifkin calls this the "stewardship paradigm." The Dominion theologians, on the other hand, such as Rushdoony and Gary North, say that our mission is to "subdue the earth." What do these two have in common? It is the pointing of their respective camps into preparation for revolution at approximately the same time, with both sides being convinced they will control the outcome. Both planned a significant role for the charismatics in advancing their mission. Both support and are supported by Presidential hopeful Pat Robertson. Robertson has highly praised Jeremy Rifkin. He had the unpublished manuscript to Rifkin's Bantam New Age series book, ENTROPY. While Dominion theologian Gary North has been critical of Rifkin, he has nonetheless been following a Rifkinesque scenario of bringing the revolution he envisions to birth — both in terms of planned use of evangelicals and charismatics.

Gary North and his cohorts among the Christian Reconstructionist Movement foresee a world that is a theocracy. It is based on an old-testament code, a la John Calvin. It would provide the death penalty for violation of Biblical laws. Jeremy Rifkin rightfully believes that Calvin helped propel the dialectics that ushered in a new liberalism. Calvin, he argues, helped usher in a New Age:

Calvin believed that the secular world should be guided at all times by God's laws. In his own city of Geneva, Calvin was successful in creating a virtual theocracy. While he never held public office, Calvin was instrumental in advancing social legislation which would still be considered progressive by twentieth century standards. According to the registers of the city of Geneva, Calvin was the driving force behind the regulation of hours and conditions of labor; restrictions of the tasks imposed upon women and children; control of inflationary prices of bread, cheese and wine; the right to organize for unskilled and guild labor; public investment in business enterprise to relieve unemployment; adoption of orphans as wards of the court; and countless other laws. Unfortunately, as is often the case with great reformers, the spirit and intent of Calvin's doctrinal beliefs were soon twisted to suit the needs of others. ... In the end it was Calvin's emphasis on the importance of engaging in worldly activity as a sign of election to the kingdom of God that helped usher in a new social class, the bourgeoisie. It was the bourgeoisie, seeking to justify and spur on their own desire for material accumulation and social power, who transformed the religious doctrines of Luther and Calvin and formulated a revolutionary new philosophy of society — liberalism.

Rifkin sees even greater potential for the use of Charismatics:

Strangely enough, it is not a spirit of innovation or a mode of open rebellion that is spawning what could become the greatest change in Protestantism since its birth. On the contrary it is in the name of orthodoxy and in the spirit of church renewal that millions of devoted Christians are giving form to a new theological construct; one whose sweep is so broad that it could well consume the theological world view of the Reformation.

Today's Christian renewal movement is a two-pronged phenomenon. First, there are the millions upon millions of Charismatics, whose belief in supernatural gifts of faith healing, speaking in tongues and prophesy [sic] represent a monumental assault on the modern age itself. For the Charismatics, these supernatural powers are beginning to replace science, technique and reason as the critical reference points for interpreting one's day-to-day existence. If this unconscious challenge to the modern world view continues to intensify, it could provide the kind of liberating force that could topple the prevailing ethos and provide a bridge to the next age of history.

While the Charismatics are generating a potentially liberating impulse, the more mainline evangelical movement is beginning to provide the necessary re-formulation of theological doctrine that is essential for the creation of a new covenant vision and a new world view.

It is this use of the Neo-Pentecostals, or the Charismatics that is being explored in this and forthcoming issues of the MONITOR. We will explore the use of the evangelicals in forthcoming issues as well. The topic is vast. I have just started to explore Gary North's companies (Dominion Press) and the entire range of the Christian Reconstructionist Movement. One important reason I did not do so earlier is that Gary successfully neutralized me for a number of years by calling me to tell me how much he supported my work and dropping me interesting tidbits in the mail from time to time.

I suppose that I might still be personally neutralized were it not for Gary's injudicious not-so-subtly veiled threat to me in a letter he sent to Peter LaLonde, publisher of the OMEGA Newsletter on prophecy. Gary also bragged about their successful shepherding of the Charismatic Movement. I began to pay attention to details I had previously overlooked. One important such item was the fact that Gary had dedicated his book on the New Age Movement - UNHOLY SPIRITS - to Bob Mumford, founder of the shepherding movement along with Derek Prince, Don Basham, and Ern Baxter.

I was too naive to realize it at the time, but Gary was probably lulling me to sleep with a tactic common to all cult-like groups: love-bombing. At that time I was innocent about post-millennialism and other theological nuances. He told me he had stumbled onto some of the same trends as I had discovered when he wrote his earlier book on witchcraft, but he had not felt the time was ripe to discuss the New Age movement. Now Gary takes credit for initial exposure of the NAM. His letter to me of April 30, 1983 should have tipped me off that there was something VERY different about his theology.

The foregoing correspondence will show that I asked Gary to send me a review copy of DAYS OF VENGEANCE by David Chilton. I am still wading through that massive tome, but skimming it, I observed that he was reinterpreting the entire book of Revelation. Some of the Biblical figures, Chilton observed, stood for signs of the zodiac. You will never guess which one we were entering! You guessed right. It is the sign of Aquarius the water bearer! Interesting too was the fact that books such as Theosophist and comparative religion scholar Mircea Eliade (Bollingen Foundation at that) MYTH OF THE ETERNAL RETURN were referenced. I started to suspect that the Christian Reconstructionist Movement was indeed a secret society in every sense of the word and that it was not beyond the realm of possibility that some of those steering it could even be closet New Agers, or had at least succumbed to the same motivating spirit.

The Apostle Peter gave a solemn warning:

Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying Where is the promise of his coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation. II Peter 3:3-4

I used to have real trouble with those verses. After all, the people doing the mocking and scoffing, as far as I could tell, didn't even believe in Creation. They were evolutionists. Now, I see it far more clearly. Those doing the mocking and scoffing profess to believe in the Creation. But they insist, as does the Christian Reconstructionist crowd, that all continues as since Creation.

This topic will span several issues. I am not big, as you all know, on old Chinese proverbs. But the saying that "a picture is worth a thousand words" seems to fit here. Gary North's correspondence is so blatant on its face, that it must be seen to be believed. I sent the letter from Peter LaLonde to Hal Lindsey. Hal, I was relieved to learn, read it on Paul Crouch's Trinity Broadcast Network. Paul Crouch held up David Chilton's book and said, "so, these are the folks with the footnotes."

Truly as the Book of Daniel says, "in those days, those who do know their God will be strong and do exploits." That is my favorite passage in the Bible. My least favorite passage immediate follows that, "but even some of those of understanding will fall by fire and by sword for many days ..." We are getting our exploits in while we still have our chance.

April 30, 1983

Dear Constance:

I have yet ordered your book, but I plan to. I need to revise my witchcraft book shortly - a task I hate. Revising books is agony for me. But before the end of the year, I plan to have the job finished.

I think your book title is incorrect. I would subtitle it: "THE NEW AGE MOVEMENT AND ITS PROGRAM FOR BARBARISM." Your book title assumes they are going to win. They aren't. THEY'RE going to suffer the dark age, not us.

The chapter of the Bible people too often ignore is Isaiah 65. In Is.65:20, we are told that we will be given long lives, not in a post-resurrection era, but in an era in which sinners still operate, and die "young" at age 100. I take these words literally. I think a period of progress will appear, but not until men accept the gospel and stop pursuing rainbows.

It won't be easy to turn this world around, but they have set the year 2000 as their cut-off date. I would expect them to be derailed by God before that time - not across the boards, but at least in principle. Maybe 1999 will be the year of their tragedy. I'd like to think so, since it would cut them off just before they achieve their long hoped-for goal. I want to play a role in derailing them, which is why I sit in front of my computer screen all day.

I look forward to a massive revival. But if a revival comes before we're ready to tell men what kind of world God requires us to build, then we will suffer another "burned-over district." That's why I write economic commentaries on the Bible. I hope other men will write psychological commentaries, education commentaries, and political commentaries. We need to set forth biblical standards for new converts to follow. I am doing my best to lay the foundations in one area of life. If we lay the foundations, revival will come.

Sincerely yours,

Gary North

I was further lulled to sleep by Gary's stance (at least to me) against a "Year of Jubilee." In November, 1983, he sent me a handwritten note saying:

November 29, 1983

Constance:

I think I had better get out a pamphlet on the Jubilee Year. Do you have Sider-type citations that you think need to be answered? If so, send photocopies.

Gary North

Oh, here and there, lurked a few clues that perhaps all was not well. Gary sent a letter to somebody that was promptly forwarded to me saying:

Dear No Name:

You have been reading Constance Cumbeys books. I suggest that you read my book UNHOLY SPIRITS, written seven years before Mrs. Cumbeys RAINBOW book. [Not QUITE true. cec] In that book, I cover the theological issues raised by you. It would have saved Mrs. Cumbey a lot of research time if she had read my book before she began researching the New Age movement. She spotted a lot of bad guys, but the major issues are theological [meaning acceptance of Gary North's Post-Millennialism - a similar teaching to the New Age Movement's. cec]

The reason I fail to mention Benjamin Creme is because he doesn't have any following or influence. [Definitely not true. From Sir George Trevelyan, Prince Charles' former headmaster, on down, Creme is revered by English New Agers as well as numerous others about the world!]

There already is a New World order. It began with the resurrection. [This is Gary's post-millennialism coming to light. cec]

Why do you think Pat Robertson wrote THE SECRET KINGDOM? It was co-authored. Remember, virtually nobody in the Christian movement except a few specialists have read Alice Bailey. [Probably Pat was one of those. Why else would he celebrate the International Week of Forgiveness and say that when the Bible says every eye shall see Him, it means on television? cec] She was an occultist, is hard to read, and any long study of her can lead to problems psychologically. People should read very little occult materials and then only because they have a real need to know. I am sure Pat never has read Alice Bailey. [I am glad GARY is sure - I AM NOT! cec] Successful builders of networks have no time for utter nonsense. Alice Bailey's theology is nonsense.

THE SECRET KINGDOM has plenty of flaws. Pat is neither a philosopher nor a trained theologian. [That's not what Pat has claimed for himself as a seminary graduate! cec] Neither is the co-author who once wrote a positive book promoting Jimmy Carter. But I doubt that Pat's a conscious New Ager.

Sincerely yours,

Gary North

Gary then wrote Peter Lalonde the first of an astonishing series of letters. After Peter shared them with me, I saw a side to Gary that I had not believed possible before.

March 28, 1987

Peter Lalonde, Omega Letter, P.O. Box 744, North Bay, Ontario

Dear Mr. Lalonde:

I have just listened to your taped interview with Dave Hunt. Naturally, I am not impressed. In fact, I would say that the tapes prove my point: that those who hold dispensational theology has been routed since 1980, although the man in the pew is unaware of it. I would not have thought it possible in 1979. The rout is evidenced by the absolute lack of counter-attack. There has yet to be a single book against Reconstructionism. The book by Vickers in 1977 addressed only the economics, and that book was one of the stupidist exercises in pro-Keynesian economics that it was easy for Ian Hodge to skewer.

The sign of victory is the lack of serious responses. As yet, yours is one of the few. Actually, your presentation is a lot more impressive than Dave Hunt's. I think your instincts as to what the key dividing issues are between the positions are more accurate than his. You haven't done your reading, but your instincts are on target.

You should consider becoming the first to take us on. I mean this. Hunt is playing mamby-pamby so far. I don't blame him. He is betting the store on my view being pro-New Age, but since I wrote the first book against the New Agers (NONE DARE CALL IT WITCHCRAFT), he will never make it stick. I show that his eschatology (and yours) is closely linked to New Ager Jeremy Rifkin's - in fact, Rifkin deliberately targeted premillennialists as those who share his views. So the strategy of calling names (New Agers!) is about to backfire.

Now, I assume that you are an honest man. I have therefore enclosed three books. If you are going to smear us, then please read us first. When I hear Hunt sneer about the "four young men," I know he hasn't done his homework. Bob Thoburn is 60, has 8 kids (youngest: 16), and started his Christian school - the most financially successful Christian school in history - in 1966. So, Hunt hadn't done any reading when he attacked us. That is grossly unfair.

I am not one who says rival theologians shouldn't attack others. I believe they should. But they must do full-scale research and know exactly what the rival believes. To carry out a successful refutation, you must know how the other guy thinks. In a debate, you must know how your opponent will argue, and more important, how he will respond. If you don't know how he thinks well enough, don't go on the attack.

I enclose the books so that you can prepare yourself for a serious exchange. If I didn't think you are a serious opponent, I wouldn't waste my time or the money the books cost. You owe it to us, as well as to your audience, to know exactly what we're saying. Attack what we say, not what you think is easiest to attack, but which bears little relationship to what we say. I have in mind all the nonsense about our not believing in the Rapture. Hunt either knows better and is lying, or else he hasn't done his homework. I suspect the latter. If he had researched us as well as he researched the cults, he could not honestly say the things that he does.

Understand, what you guys are saying is that anyone who doesn't time the rapture exactly where you do doesn't believe in the rapture. But there are at least four ways of timing the rapture: pre-trib, mid-trib, post-trib, and end of time. The "helicopter escape" view is not anti-rapture; it is simply referring to the psychology of those who await it. You people deliberately tell your audience that we are ridiculing the rapture. No, we are ridiculing an attitude of desperation among premils regarding the rapture. Our target isn't the rapture; our target is your psychology of defeat that regards the rapture as a way of escape from personal responsibility. Anyone who has read my UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER or DOMINION AND COMMON GRACE would know this.

Again, let me say that I don't resent opposition. Battling out the hard issues of theology is how the church progresses - and we postmils do believe in progress. What I resent is that those who say we postmils haven't done our homework expectively themselves have neglected to read anything that we've written. Yet we read our opponents very carefully before we go into print to confront them. It's a matter of honest confrontation vs. hit and run tactics.

I hope you will read the books. If you do, and you want a serious discussion, I will agree to do a tape with you. You can ask any question about my position, and I will give you straight answers. If you're smart, you will find the weak chinks in my armor - every theology has weak spots - and I'll fess up. But "there be few that are saved" isn't one of them. You will note, Jesus did not use the future tense in that criticism of Israel. Remember your fundamental dispensational point: He was offering the kingdom to Israel, and His message was to Israel. It was true: few were being saved in Israel. That is why He removed the kingdom from Israel. He was not making a prophecy about the Church - or at least, there is no evidence that it was a prophecy. So in making this argument in any criticism of postmils, premils abandon their original distinction between Israel and the Church. That is either sloppy theology or else deliberate deception. If you can't sell subscriptions with a tape of me, you are asleep at the wheel. I will not argue. I will simply answer questions. I will be Mr. Nice Guy. If you read the books, you'll know the questions.

Sincerely yours,

GARY NORTH

Encl: Days of Vengeance; Dominion and Common Grace; By This Standard

The next note Gary sent was somewhat cryptic, as obviously the book he referenced was not enclosed.

For the Record:

With this, we conquer!!!

Here is THE book of the Reconstructionist movement. Not Chilton, not Rushdoony. With this book, we will pull it off. You need to read it. Even the title is calculated to move the charismatics into our sphere of intellectual influence.

You want to know the theological blueprint that will at last blow Scofieldism to smithereens? Here's the book.

And the best thing about it, it doesn't look like the hand grenade it really is. Step by step, it leads the reader to our conclusions, with every reader saying "Amen!" chapter by chapter.

It's a work of genius because it's so simple. And you've got the very first copy sent to a premil, pretrib writer.

By the way, whatever happened to Talbot Seminary?

And wait till you see the "underground" tape that is now circulating at Dallas Seminary. Plus 100 copies of 75 BIBLE QUESTIONS that were handed out to the freshman class in eschatology.

And the walls come tumblin' down.

Peter told me he thought Days of Vengeance was that book. Based on that assumption, I wrote Gary North, requesting a copy and one was sent. Now, we do not know what book he referenced, as he only sent one of the three he told Lalonde he was enclosing.

Connie:

He enclosed book by Chilton. I thought that is what he was referring to until I looked at this note again.

I don't know what book he means.

Peter

Gary then sent the most astonishing letter I believe I have ever seen. It is likely that the Mafia mails friendlier letters!

April 30, 1987

Peter LaLonde, Omega Letter. P.O. Box 744, North Bay, Ontario

Dear Mr. Lalonde:

You have now taken upon yourself a major responsibility. You are positioning yourself as the critic of dominion theology, after Dave Hunt. As you might suspect, we are preparing to give Mr. Hunt a run for his theological money. We regard him as the Hal Lindsey of the late 1980's - and with the same future: "Oh, yes, I remember you. You were that fellow who said Jesus was just around the corner because Israel was founded in 1948, and one generation later. . . ."

It didn't happen. It isn't going to happen. And in the year 2002, we pick up the pieces. When Israel gets pushed into the sea, or converted to Christ, Scofieldism dies a fast death. Rest assured, I have a manuscript ready to go when either of these events happens. (And if it doesn't happen, I have lots of other manuscripts.)

Your problem, like Hunt's, is that you can't continue to play paticake on the sidelines much longer. Bashing in Earl Paulk's head is child's play. As yet, Mr. Hunt has wisely avoided crossing swords with the big boys. He is steadily pressuring the dominion people into the Reconstructionist camp. We are becoming their intellectual defenders, and every time you guys mail out more tapes, we move up a notch in the charismatic camp. There really is nothing you can do about this. You guys are literally heaven-sent. You won't believe my next move, and not being an idiot, I won't tell you here. I will once I've pulled it off, as I expect to do by the end of the year. We were shepherds without sheep. No longer.

Now, if you are going to stay afloat, you have to get ready to take on the folks with the footnotes. Paulk-bashing won't cut it much longer. I suggest that you do your homework, read a few books, and then deal with the folks who gave you postmillennialism and theonomy. It wasn't the Manifest Sons of God (whoever they were).

WHEN YOU'RE READY TO DEAL WITH ME, I'LL BE HAPPY TO COOPERATE. LET ME WARN YOU, HOWEVER: IF CONSTANCE DOESN'T LAY OFF PAT ROBERTSON, YOU GUYS WILL BE EASY TARGETS FOR CUMBEY-BASHING. I WON'T DO IT, BUT FAITHFUL CHARISMATICS WILL. Remember Jim Bakker was a Hal Lindsey man all the way (so to speak). He's yours. If you play the guilt by association game much longer, it will backfire.

Sincerely yours,

GARY NORTH

I stewed over this copy which I first saw in early June, 1987. Then I finally decided to write Gary personally.

June 9, 1987

Dr. Gary North, Institute for Christian Economics P.O. Box 8000, Tyler, Texas 75711

Dear Gary:

Would you please be kind enough to send me review copies for my newsletter of David Chilton's latest book, DAYS OF VENGEANCE, plus any other materials you feel are of current significance in explaining the position and strategy of the Christian Reconstructionist Movement from your perspective.

Peter LaLonde shared your April 30, 1987 letter with me. To refresh your memory on its contents, you wrote:

"When you're ready to deal with me, I'll be happy to cooperate. Let me warn you, however: if Constance doesn't lay off Pat Robertson, you guys will be easy targets for Cumbe-y-bashing."

I am relieved to know that you have not been caught up in the spiritual morass of modern psychology. Because, obviously if you were, you would have known that a remark of that type can only serve as a supreme motivator - not a discouragement to this kid! Take heed to thyself - lest thou become a bashee rather than a basher!

If you are unable to send the review books, please let me know. Also, I would be happy to trade newsletters with you.

Thanks for your help, Gary.

Sincerely,

CONSTANCE E. CUMBEY

P.S. There are days when I wonder if you are not running a secret society, a la THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR. Also, you can tell whoever you are talking to that I am on to J. Peter Grace! He does much more than raise money for hospitals. Privatization is the magic word!

Then the real fun started!

Dear Gary:

Checkmate #1!

As you can see from the enclosed letter, of which I have carefully blotted out the name of the writer, we anticipated one of your recent moves, and I suspect, a substantial part of your strategy as well.

You won't believe my next move! Not being an idiot, I won't tell you - but you will know before the year's out. Does what I am saying sound familiar?

Give my regards to Gary DeMar and all the other new found post-millennial "experts" on the New Age Movement. I guess you should have insights. Your thinking is basically the same.

Sincerely,

June 16, 1987

Dear Constance:

I'm having to write this out long hand because my computer is out of paper at the moment and my typewriter ribbon is needing replacement. However, I'm anxious for you to know that the information you supplied was indeed most helpful and effective.

As suspected, Gary DeMar was here, according to his opening admission, "to clear up any misunderstandings" about the New Age Movement and remarks made by "Dave Hunt, LaLonde and Dave Wilkerson." He was clearly believing he was in friendly territory and even said so until the question and answer period.

, myself, and another couple had done the best we could to go over your materials the night we met you. We were here until midnight, and then I got up real early to re-study things.

He openly was shaken when I asked him to explain his position as a reconstructionist. His tactics became those of emotional manipulation of the audience rather than clear explanations of anything, but he did get around to admitting he was post-millennialist and went on to try and defend that position.

By the end of the seminar, which did not progress as the hosts intended, the lady in charge was even forced into making a statement she choked a little on. It went like this "Pastor _____ has asked me to tell you that the views expressed here are not necessarily those of this church."

You see, even though First Assembly (where we were meeting) had hoped DeMar would blast Hunt, they are definitely not post-millennialists.

The dangerous things I saw in what DeMar said were coming from a mixture of truth and deception, plus again, the play on emotions. Although I have only read accounts of Hitler's rise to power, I dare say it had a similar ring.

The gal who was in charge had announced before the seminar began that tapes were going to be available, so I planned to get some. However, she regretfully announced afterwards that the machine had malfunctioned and there would be no purchasable tapes. Fortunately, I did bring my pocket recorder, so I have a micro-cassette of the first session. We were not very close to the podium, so the quality isn't good, but if you would like to hear it, I'll send it to you. I want to listen to it a couple of times myself, though.

I don't really know what all God would have us do except continue to pray for discernment and to be careful that we hear Him clearly. My heart breaks for those who are sincere Christians but are allowing themselves to be "seduced." I, personally, am not used to an adversarial role, but my greatest desire in life is to be in the center of God's Will, focusing on Christ and standing on the Word. I refuse to be a stupid sheep!

Thank you, so much for your efforts and your help. My prayers are with you.

In Christ's love.

Constance:

In the early stages of a movement, every bashing only adds to the mailing list. So keep bashing. It's money in the bank.

Enclosed is Chilton's book. Keep bashing. We'll sell an extra 500, at least. Do a full-scale hatchet job, and we'll sell 1,000 - and I'll reprint! I love being bashed.

Tell LaLonde and Hunt they're a God-send. Nothing my troops like better than a chance for me to draw blood! But I'm smart enough to leave Leithart alone to do the real job on Hunt. Then I can remain Mr. Nice Guy.

Dave, in all honesty, really hasn't done his homework yet. Maybe you can help him.

When you read my HEALER OF THE NATIONS, you'll have a fit. I am counting on a full-scale response, and am printing 2,500 extra copies to handle the response.

Keep bashing.

Sincerely,

GARY NORTH

At the suggestion of a friend, I decided maybe if Earl Paulk didn't have any respect left for God, maybe he still had a little left for himself and maybe Earl Paulk should know what the Reconstructionists really thought of him - "bashing in Earl Paulk's head is child's play." Therefore, I sent him the following letter

June 28, 1987

Rev. Earl Paulk Chapel Hill Harvester Church 4650 Flat Shoals Road Decatur, Georgia 30034

Dear Rev. Paulk:

I thought you might enjoy knowing what your "friends" in the Christian Reconstruction, Post-Millennialist camp really think of you. Towards that end, I have enclosed a copy of a letter Gary North sent to Peter LaLonde on April 30, 1987.

As you can see, they consider themselves your intellectual betters and you as their sheep. All along, we thought Gary North was a "sheep" if anybody of Rushdoony's. However, I suggest you look at the front of his book UNHOLY SPIRITS. You will note it is dedicated to Bob Mumford. Therefore, it is real easy to see who you are submitting yourself to down the line!

You will probably scoff at this communication as you have all other holy warnings. But I thought you should have one final chance to see that you are considered a marketable commodity by someone other than Satan.

You were raised in a sound doctrinal environment - the Church of God. Your father was an overseer in that denomination. Please consider honoring your father's memory by returning to the fundamentals of his faith. Millions would rejoice and many souls would be saved, should you choose to do so.

The Book of Daniel says, "Such as do wickedly against the covenant, will he corrupt by flatteries." The flatteries seem to be a promise of divinity reserved only to God and earthly power. Some seem to be flattering you and yours by setting up a structure that they - not you will control.

Please prayerfully consider this letter. Nobody else may ever take the time to warn you and present the evidence I have submitted. The plans of the "Christian Reconstruction" movement are to use you and the entire Charismatic Movement. Don't let them do it.

Sincerely,

CONSTANCE E. CUMBEY

I waited two days so Gary couldn't intercept Paulk's letter and then mailed this note to Gary North.

P.S. When did you start submitting to Bob Mumford? Or, is Bob Mumford submitting to you? Happy shepherding to you - until we meet again!

July 9, 1987

The final note in the final exchange stems from Hal Lindsey's appearance on Trinity on July 8th, 1987.

Dr. Gary North Institute for Christian Economics P.O. Box 8000 Tyler, Texas 75711

Dear Gary:

I guess by now that you have guessed what my next move was. Would you please tell me again the part, "there really is nothing you can do about it."

Why the dreadful silence on your part? I was starting to enjoy your letters! After all, you wanted me to bash! So nice to accommodate my "friends."

Sincerely,

Caveat: Gary North has sent a letter opposing the Unification Church and those who work with it, but he has not ceased working with those actively cooperating with Unification Church people. Likewise, he publicly condemns Jeremy Rifkin, but uses the very same tactics as those Rifkin suggested.

It is difficult to tell if Gary North is naive or shrewd! It must be noted here that Dominion Theology and by extension the entire Christian Reconstructionist Movement is anti-semitic to the extreme. Other dangerous and interesting trends of this include

- Appeals to people in Identity coalition and their sympathizers
- Everett Sileven has preached dominion, as well as Identity message.
- Networking with Congressman Newt Gingrich of Georgia, a self-confessed non-repentant New Ager.
- Manifest Son of God leaders such as the Gimenez' work with COR.
- Networking with Manifest Sons of God
- Shepherding, Discipleship influences (Gary North's book, UNHOLY SPIRITS is dedicated to Bob Mumford)
- The Reconstructionists have been steadily working to set themselves up as THE EXPERTS on the New Age Movement.

- Doug Groothuis - the InterVarsity Press writer on the New Age Movement has pooh-poohed the association of the New Age Movement with either anti-semitism and Biblical Prophecy. Now it turns out that he has long been associated with post-millennial circles and even belonged to a Bible study group at Portland Bible Temple - a restoration, revival ministry, tinged with Manifest Sons of God teachings.

Gary North has attempted to define New Age Movement solely in terms of: Divinity of Man

And, many of the people Gary North, et al are working with do preach the Divinity of Man. But Gary North, et al, have tried to gloss this fact over, by saying that these people, such as Earl Paulk, merely expressed themselves poorly.

Reincarnation

Gary North says that a New Ager must necessarily express a belief in reincarnation. This is not necessarily true. In the first place, many in the New Age Movement are not stupid, at least in the generic sense of the word. If they held such beliefs, they would keep them to themselves. In the second place, some in the New Age Movement are secular humanists. While they profess no spirituality, they are united with the New Ager by a belief that they will usher in an earthly kingdom for a new millennium.

A quote from THE HUMANIST MANIFESTO of 1973 will help make the point:

"we move further into space and perhaps inhabit other planets."

But there is something very vital that the humanists, the New Ager, the Manifest Sons of God, the Christian Reconstructionists, the Post-Millennialists, the Discipleship and Shepherding groups, the Dominion Theology proponents, and the Communists have in common - that somehow, by human efforts, they can create heaven on earth. All these groups believe that those who wait on God are detrimental to the future of the human race. Again, hear the words of the HUMANIST MANIFESTO II (1973):

theism, especially faith in the prayer-hearing God, assumed to love and care for persons, to hear and understand their prayers, and to be able to do something about them, is an unproved and outmoded faith. Salvationism, based on mere affirmation, still appears as harmful, diverting people with false hopes of heaven hereafter. Reasonable minds look to other means for survival.

Bluntly, the real difference between the Christian reconstructionist movement and these other movements I have mentioned is that the New Ager have it straight who they are working for! The New Ager know it is for Lucifer. The Christians are preaching a different gospel with a very different spirit and claim they are doing it for God. As Jesus said:

not be offended. They shall put out of the synagogues; yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service.

It is chilling to see all these groups focus in on the same enemy - orthodox Christians and Jews. The New Ager, the Communists, the Humanists, the Manifest Sons of God, the Dominionists, the Reconstructionists, et al, ad nauseum, all believe the enemy is he who does not believe this new revelation - that we, by mortal efforts, with mystical (translate - altered states of consciousness) assistance will usher in the Kingdom of God - right here on earth.

Eustace Mullins

Mullins should not write books, if he does not want people to see them. He is obviously practicing the Big Lie technique - that if you repeat a lie loud enough and often enough, people will believe it. Mullins and his mentor, Ezra Pound's connections speak for themselves. Mullins has spoken loudly and clearly through his books such as MY LIFE IN CHRIST, THIS DIFFICULT INDIVIDUAL EZRA POUND, and A WRIT FOR MARTYRS. Despite the obvious and clear evidence, Mullins hopes he can make it go away, by merely denying its existence.

Eustace Mullins has Bollingen ties

THIS DIFFICULT INDIVIDUAL EZRA POUND

Eustace Mullins told me his book, THIS DIFFICULT INDIVIDUAL EZRA POUND was not available anywhere as it "has been completely suppressed." The book is available, as Mullins well knew, but there was an excellent reason he would not wish me to see it - it detailed his own connections to the Alice Bailey -

Olga Froebe Kapteyn founded BOLLINGEN FOUNDATION. Those references are found on pages 175, 268, 269, 271, 273, 280, and 285 of Mullins' "authorized biography" of Ezra Pound.

The first such enumerated reference is telling:

"Frobenius became one of the principal contributors to Ezra's PAIDEUMA. One of his first efforts on my behalf was an attempt to get me a scholarship from the Bollingen Foundation, so that I could translate the works of Frobenius into English."

Ezra Pound

This is what drew my attention to Mullins in the first place. I had discovered Pound in tracking down the many-tiered activities of the Alice Bailey/Olga Froebe-Kapteyn founded Bollingen Foundation. They had become Ezra Pound's support group after he was imprisoned after World War II for broadcasts he had made sympathetic to Hitler and Mussolini during the war. He was scheduled to be tried on treason when the Bollingen Foundation, like the Cavalry, came riding to his rescue! It was largely because of their intervention that his insanity play proved successful.

I have had the privilege of meeting personally with Dr. E. Fuller Torrey, M.D., and a staff psychiatrist at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C. That is the mental hospital where John Hinckley is currently housed. That is where Ezra Pound was housed. Dr. Torrey gained an exhaustive knowledge of Pound's case as he poured over his records after he went to work at that hospital. We all owe Torrey a debt of gratitude for his work on unraveling the Pound mysteries.

Mullins brags of ties with T. S. Eliot

Eliot is pictured in William McGuire's book, BOLLINGEN: AN ADVENTURE IN COLLECTING THE PAST. He is at Bollingen attending a 1949 function. Other Bollingen officials Mullins boasts of closeness to include:

- Katharine Garrison Chapin - Ms. Chapin was the wife of Attorney General Francis Biddle. Francis Biddle is mentioned repeatedly and negatively in American Swastika by Charles Higham as one who was sympathetic to anti-Semites while World War II was in progress.

- In his book A WRIT FOR MARTYRS, Mullins says

- "In Washington, I had already been invited on a number of occasions by Katharine Garrison Chapin [Katherine Biddle] (wife of Attorney General Francis Biddle) to soirees in her home." Francis Biddle, himself, was sympathetic to the Bollingen cause. He is also pictured in McGuire's BOLLINGEN: AN ADVENTURE IN COLLECTING THE PAST.

- The Biddles' Bollingen involvement might help to explain a missing historical puzzle. Why did Francis Biddle appear to be slack in investigating and prosecuting seditionists during World War II. Charles Higham writes in AMERICAN SWASTIKA:

- "William Power Maloney [an FBI investigator] worked heroically to secure an indictment against Dennis. He hoped to bring down with him all of the other pro-Nazis who surrounded Dennis by charging them outright with sedition. After Pearl Harbor, Maloney brought about a series of grand jury hearings following the George Hill indictment. Maloney dragged out thousands of magazines and subpoenaed letters and miscellaneous documents that conclusively showed Dennis and several others to be directly connected to German agents and money sources. However, Attorney General Francis Biddle failed to act on Maloney's urgent suggestions and seemed to do everything to throw obstruction in his path."

- Huntingdon Cairns - "I was on good terms with another prominent Establishment figure, Huntingdon Cairns, the longtime legal counsel of the National Gallery". Huntingdon Cairns is pictured in William McGuire's book, BOLLINGEN: AN ADVENTURE IN COLLECTING THE PAST.

Mullins' basic paganism

In his old age, Yeats became quite philosophical, and the philosophy stated here is the one which is evolving from man's life in the twentieth century. As a Virginian, I knew defeat; therefore, I was able to know culture. THOUGH HIS REFERENCE TO 'THE LAST BATTLE OF THE NORSE GODS' STRIKES TERROR INTO THE HEARTS OF THE SUBHUMANS, IT IS THE BASIC CONCEPT OF MODERN LIFE.

Mullins and "The Force"

"Ezra should not cavil at the revenge that the gods have wreaked on him, for he has done great damage to their hitherto secure Olympus. The mind of man is a force as violent as anything to be found in nature, and is not civilization too but an idea, the manifestation of man's idea of himself? Ah, protests Sadie Wetwash (better known in the peerage as Lady Hailstone) from the rear of the room, 'Is not civilization really God's idea of man?' We acquiesce, but in self-extenuation, we quote the eminent Dutdh philosopher, Professor J. Wetmaar Liverlipps, who recently stated that God is only man's idea of God. In this arena which we call the world, the mind of man remains the primeval force, the only force still respected and feared by the 'humanitarians!'"

Social Credit Movement ties

On page 12 of Mullins' A WRIT FOR MARTYRS, he writes to explain his firing from the Library of Congress:

"The agents [FBI] gave him [Librarian of Congress, Luther Evans] a flimsy pretext, that I had written an article for The Social Creditor, a small English financial paper of which I was the American correspondent. This arrangement had been made by Ezra Pound, who had been a close friend of Major C. H. Douglas, founder of the Social Credit movement."

Mullins article about Cumbeys

It is interesting that Mullins starts out by comparing me to infection. This is the same tactic he used against Jews. It is the same tactic Hitler used.

Mullins starts his tape against me by misrepresenting the evidence of Edison's theosophy, Ford's occultism and deliberately misquoting me. He states:

On page 95, Cumbeys resolves that Henry Ford is an 'occultist' because he was a friend of Thomas Edison whom she claims was a Theosophist.

On page 95, I quoted from THE THEOSOPHIST (December, 1938) about Mr. Ford's beliefs on occultism:

"Mr. Henry Ford seems to lose no opportunity to state his belief in reincarnation, and this, one would think, has gone a long way toward reacquainting the world with reincarnation and karma."

Moreover, one can check any biography of Ford or Edison to find historical evidence of their deep friendship. Ford's friendship and admiration of Edison extended to procuring his birthplace and original workshops and placing both in his Greenfield Village - a Ford shrine to the past located near my home in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Mullins' next statement is an outright fabrication. Mullins states:

and when I told her that as Pound's authorized biographer, I had studied all his works and never found anything promoting Theosophy, she declared very earnestly, 'Oh, it's in there; you have to look for it.'

I never made such a statement, although Mullins did profess naivete' about Pound's Theosophical connections in our initial conversation on July 5, 1986. Once I obtained Mullins' biography of Pound and his book, MY LIFE IN CHRIST, I knew this to be another bald-faced lie. Mullins was very well acquainted with Theosophy. As far as Pound goes, one doesn't have to look far. Most of his biographers, including Torrey, and the Paideuma Society, devoted exclusively to Pound research, exhaustively documented Pound's connections to the occult - including Theosophy, astrology, and the Eleusinian mysteries.

The story about the New Age piano tuner located on page 154 of A PLANNED DECEPTION stands as written. Anybody reading that passage will know that the argument was not about "Middle C"

I have sacrificed the bulk of my income to expose the New Age Movement. I was able to make far more practicing law on a full-time basis than the scant money I receive in free-will offerings and royalties.

Anyone making a serious study about the League of Nations (to be taken up in a future article in the MONITOR) and the World Parliament of Religions not to mention the United Nations will know that the role of the Theosophical Society and Lucis Trust has been extremely major and their influence has been great. The so-called "powers of evil" Mullins has researched over the past 30 years are Jews and this in turn is motivated by his personal occultism and his ties to the Theosophical oriented Social Credit Movement, of which the initial meetings were held in the offices of THE NEW AGE in London. The NEW AGE was published by A. R. Orage, both a Theosophist and a Gurdjieffian.

I was delighted to learn that I make more money than Lucis Trust a year (which Mullins understates to $375,000).

That is why I drive a ten year old Caprice! I wish my income was even approached a fraction of that. Perhaps if I return to the active practice of law, it might. Days of reading things like Mullins' certainly motivate me in that direction!

Mullins reveals himself as a Biblically prophesied last day "mockers and scoffers" when he says "Most of the 'hidden dangers' which Cumbeys writes about remain hidden despite her 'courageous expose'."

While BETWEEN WAR AND PEACE hardly qualifies as Alice Bailey's principal work, it being so rare that it is not offered by Lucis Trust, nevertheless, it is revealing that Eustace Mullins mentions it. That book is extremely rare and I am fortunate to own a copy. I found it at a local New Age book dealer four years ago marked "Out of Print" and "Extremely Rare." I paid a relatively exorbitant price for it. Many who expressed the same racial goals as Hitler prior to World War II as Lucis Trust did in its book, THE SCIENCE OF THE INITIATES, attempted to cover their tracks by writing what Eustace Mullins calls "frenetic denunciation of Hitler and the entire Nazi movement." However, a careful reading of her materials or what she says was dictated to her by the Tibetan Master Djwhal Khul shows that her racial ideas were the same as those of the Nazis. I called her "the high priestess of the occult" not "The High Priestess of Nazism." This is another deliberate misrepresentation by Eustace Mullins - the same Eustace Mullins that the FBI considered so dangerous they kept, according to Mullins, an 800 page record on him. (See A WRIT FOR MARTYRS by Eustace Mullins. Evidently, the FBI considered him dangerous with good reason!)

Were it not for a series of fortuitous events, I would probably still be ignorant of Eustace Mullins. Although I had heard of him - my inherent dislike of mathematically related subjects had delayed my reading of his SECRETS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE. Besides that, good friends of mine such as Southwest Radio Church and J. R. Church were stocking one of his books, and so I had not thought of him as a New Age writer. I was wrong.

I, of course, heard of Pound, and considered him the same as other poets I heard of during interminable college lectures - something that should be marketed and sold as a cure for insomnia. After all, didn't most of us get our best naps in college dozing off to the great prose and poetry writers of history!

Nor was Eustace Mullins ever in serious danger of scrutiny from my study of economics - at least not prior to July 4, 1986. Truthfully, one of my motivations for majoring in law was that it required very little in the way of mathematics or economics. I was blissfully ignorant of the difference between a ten dollar bill and a treasury note. For me, reading books on economics could trigger a migraine headache! All I remembered from college economics were the phrases "micro-economics," "macro-economics," and "them that has gets." I received a B+ in that course, as I recall it, which says little or nothing for the discernment of the professor conducting the course - or it might say something about my ability to "cram."

It was unfortunate for Eustace Mullins that his Dallas distributor attended my Dallas speech on July 4, 1986. That speech was given shortly after I had become aware of Ezra Pound's involvement in both the occult and pro-Nazi/Fascist activities. I had recently read Dr. E. Fuller Torrey's THE ROOTS OF TREASON: EZRA POUND AND THE SECRET OF ST. ELIZABETHS. I was fortunate to find the book on a remainder table at the massive Borders Bookstore in the Detroit area and Pound's name caught my eye because of my study of Lucis Trust and one of its offspring organizations The Bollingen Foundation. I read in William McGuire's book, BOLLINGEN: AN ADVENTURE IN COLLECTING THE PAST that the Bollingen fellows and directors had championed the cause of Ezra Pound. Ezra had been hospitalized for insanity while awaiting trial on charges of treason for wartime activities conducted on behalf of Mussolini and Hitler. Dr. Torrey, a staff psychiatrist at the very same hospital where formerly Pound and presently John Hinckley are housed concluded that Pound was not insane, but had cooperated with the appearance of insanity to avail himself of the only defense he had to his treason charges - insanity.

This was of special significance to me because of a paragraph contained in Foster Bailey's book, RUNNING GODS PLAN:

"Another approved hierarchical project is the uniting of the nations of Europe in one cooperating peaceful community ... One attempt was to begin by uniting the peoples living in the Rhine river valley using that river as a binding factor. It was an attempt by a disciple but did not work. Now another attempt is in full swing ..."

Alice Bailey wrote of the development and importance of Bollingen in her UNFINISHED AUTOBIOGRAPHY:

"We had been in correspondence for some little while with a woman in Switzerland who had a good deal of knowledge and who was interested in what we were teaching and in doing something to reach the world with the Ageless Wisdom occult teachings! She had a beautiful home on Lake Maggiore in Switzerland where she had built a lecture hall and accumulated a very good library. One day in the fall of 1930 she turned up late one night at our home in Stamford, Connecticut, and spent a little time with us there, talking over many things, laying her various ideas before us, finding out what was our point of view and offering herself as a collaborator with us. She suggested the idea that with our help she should start a spiritual centre at Ascona near Locarno on Lake Maggiore and that it should be undenominational, nonsectarian and open to esoteric thinkers and occult students of all groups in Europe and elsewhere. She had those lovely houses, this lecture hall and these beautiful grounds which would be her contribution, and Foster and I should go there and start the project and lecture and teach. ..." (1)

Alice Bailey was to record that Olga Froebe's offer was accepted by them in the spring of 1931 and the entire family - Alice, Foster and three daughters - made the trip abroad. (2) Alice was to find the Ascona environment relatively unsuitable for raising daughters:

"The district had been at one time the centre of the Black Mass in Central Europe and evidences of this could be found on the country roads. The little villages around had been largely deserted by their inhabitants owing to economic conditions and had been purchased by groups from Germany and France whose aims and ideas were anything but nice or clean. The few years preceding the war, particularly in Germany, were peculiarly nasty. All kinds of vices and evil were cultivated and a lot of those who practiced these undesirable modes of life hid themselves to the Italian lakes during the summer. ... As soon as I found the kind of place it was, and that in spite of all of its beauty there lurked much evil, I simply sat down and told the girls all about it. I was determined that they should not be so innocent that they would get into dangers and I pointed out the types of people on the roads who were plainly the undesirable kind. ... I told them baldly and straight just what it was all about, including its degeneracy and its homosexuality, so that they passed unscathed through a great deal which might have damaged them." (3)

After the girls received this motherly warning from Alice, herself in a proper British environment, the family enjoyed the scenic and cultural environment for the next three years. Many important contacts were made:

"It was there for the first time that we met Dr. Robert Assagioli, who had been our representative in Italy for several years ... The second year that we went to Ascona was one of very real interest. Grand Duke Alexander joined us there." (4)

During these years (1931-1933) time the Baileys' apportioned their time - five months in Europe, seven months per year in the United States. The European work was cross-pollinating their New York work:

"During these years in which my husband and I were five months over in Great Britain and Europe and seven months in the United States the school work as steadily growing. The work done in Ascona for three years had brought a number of people of different nationalities into the school and these along with others who had already joined the school through reading the books had produced a nucleus from many countries in Europe on which we could build the future work." (5)

Quite naturally, I was interested in the various outreaches of that important occult work that Alice Bailey had been instrumental in founding. I followed up my reading of Alice Bailey with reading BOLLINGEN: AN ADVENTURE IN COLLECTING THE PAST by William McGuire (Bollingen Series, Princeton). I learned on page 205 that Bollingen had awarded a fellowship for studying the life of Ezra Pound to Noel Stock in 1961. A few pages over, I was to read:

The psycho-historian E. Fuller Torrey made ample references to Pound's occultism in general including his participation in Theosophical concerns:

"Ezra Pound's religion also included an appreciable measure of mysticism and reincarnation. This was evident in early poems such as 'Histrion,' and also in 'Comradie' ... When Pound wrote in Paris of 'external vibrations' affecting the pineal gland's retina-pigment, thereby producing light and wisdom, he may well have been alluding to mystical vibrations received from his Prinnassian predecessors. Pound's belief in reincarnation was also consonant with his continuing interest in astrology throughout the Paris years. In 1922, for example, he contributed to the LITTLE REVIEW a complex astrological calendar typing personality and life events to the signs of the zodiac and to the Greek gods; Pound's birth date fell under Bacchus on the calendar. The idea of reincarnation is also consistent with Pound's belief in the universe as a vortex, 'a system of energies that is unified at some mysterious point,' and of the energies flowing on from soul to soul."

Moreover, Dr. Torrey indicated that it was Pound's occultism that made it possible for a man of his intelligence to uncritically accept the obviously fraudulent PROTOCOLS OF ZION:

"From the perspective of the present it is difficult to understand how a man of Pound's intelligence and worldliness could accept THE PROTOCOLS OF ZION as authentic, replete as it was with internal contradictions and thinly disguised prejudice. It should be remembered that Pound's education was almost exclusively in languages and literature, not in history, economics, or the natural sciences. Moreover, he thought from preconceived truths revealed to him in mystical reveries, not deductively from observation."

Pound believed that the world should be governed by an aristocracy from his crowd of believed artistic elites:

"Pound believed that it was time for the 'aristocracy of the arts' to take control of civilization. 'We turn back, we artists, to the powers of the air, to the djinns who were our allies aforetime, to the spirits of our ancestors.' This aristocracy would 'combine and form a new civilization in the midst of the unconscious and semi-conscious gehenna. 'My problem,' Pound wrote, 'is to keep alive a certain group of advancing poets, to set the to set the arts in their rightful place as the acknowledged guide and lamp of civilization.' He was increasingly derisive of the common man, whom he characterized as 'men who simply haven't the brains to do anything else without intolerable mental fatigue.' Civilization, Pound wrote from Paris, cannot be based 'on an illiterate multitude. It has never come out of slaves, though every state has had slaves or 'the employed.' It, the vortex, has historically come from free groups, or from groups formed about men who had reached a condition of more than freedom.' Ezra Pound believed himself to be a leader of such

McGuire listed Bollingen fellows for that year as Conrad Aiken, W. H. Auden, Katherine Garrison Chapin (Mrs. Francis Biddle, wife of U.S. attorney general under Roosevelt, Francis Biddle), T. S. Eliot, Paul Green, Katherine Anne Porter, Theodore Spencer, and Willard Thorp.

While giving an award to a poet is not unusual per se in and of itself, even by an occult-oriented group, this award was different because of Pound's legal status at the time. He was housed in a mental institution, St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C. where he was to be housed until he was competent to stand trial for the charges of treason he received for radio broadcasts he made during World War II sympathetic to the Nazi and Fascist governments of Adolf Hitler and Mussolini respectively.

Needless to say, I was investigating Pound as a possible "missing link" between hard-core Nazism and mainstream occultism. I was fortunate to obtain St. Elizabeth staff psychiatrist, E. Fuller Torrey's THE ROOTS OF TREASON: EZRA POUND AND THE SECRET OF ST. ELIZABETHS. That book made it abundantly clear that the root of much of Ezra Pound's treason was his occult mysticism. On page 116 of that book, for example, I was to read:

Networking to award Pound the prize included some names familiar to those reading Mullins' accounts of his friends with whom he was on good terms in his book, A WRIT FOR MARTYRS. They included Huntingdon Cairns and Librarian of Congress Luther Evans.

Films and Videos

With the advent of relatively inexpensive video players and recorders, video tapes are rapidly becoming a convenient form of storage of essential information to help the occultist or cultist among your families and acquaintances. Four particularly valuable videos (also available in film format for larger audiences) are produced by Pat Matrisciana (married to New Age critic Caryl Matrisciana) under the auspices of the business he supervises, Jeremiah Films. Some have little patience to wade through books both of the New Agers and their Christian critics. That does not obviate, however, their need to know the facts. Although I am not big on "old Chinese Proverbs," indeed I do believe the following pictures are worth "thousands of words!"

1. GODS OF THE NEW AGE
2. RAJNEESH: A COUNTERFEIT MESSIAH
3. WITNESSES OF JEHOVAH
4. THE GODMAKERS

HOLISTIC HEALTH: A MEDICAL AND BIBLICAL CRITIQUE OF NEW AGE DECEPTION by Jane Gumprecht, M.D. (1987)

I was unhappy with Reiser and Weldon's InterVarsity Press book on Holistic Health (1983) because of its lack of a strong stand against some holistic health practices. I was further troubled by the fact that that book recommended some Holistic Health agencies such as the one in Hinsdale, Illinois as wholesome and not into new consciousness. I had procured the literature and books of that and similarly recommended centers and they were on their face, promoting meditation - the vital essence of new consciousness. I felt, of course, that their book was better than nothing, but I had little to recommend in its place. Now, there is an alternative - one that does not mince words. Jane Gumprecht, M.D. does not compromise, and for this reason, I strongly recommend her book - in my opinion, the best written to date on the subject of Holistic Health. Dr. Jane Gumprecht, a Couer D'Alene Idaho M.D. is uniquely qualified to write this critique - she was raised in the New Age/Metaphysical Movement, and she is a medical doctor married to a medical doctor and is the mother of three medical doctors! Anybody who has tried to struggle to through professional school of any type, or has watched the travail of those who have know what an accomplishment that is in and of itself.

"Dr. Jane" explains the spiritual and medical dangers of holistic health practices ranging from chelation therapy and colonic irrigation through "deathing."

She gives a comprehensive history of the holistic health movement, conclusively demonstrating that it springs, for the most part, from Madame Blavatsky and Edgar Cayce. Dr. Jane knows much more about medicine than pricing books. Consequently, this priceless book on Holistic Health. We have procured a stock of 100 copies, currently priced at $6.95 plus $1.75 shipping and handling. We can obtain more, if necessary. What I would really like to see you do is pressure your local Christian and secular bookstore to carry it. It deserves and needs international circulation. The information is so pertinent and well-written (also illustrated) and so vital that it must go to others apart from those so heavily motivated that they would write a small publisher to special order it. While written from a Christian perspective, the book is invaluable, not only to Christians, but to Jews, secularists, and indeed all those seeking to unmask the deception - witting and unwitting that Holistic Health poses to both mental and physical well-being. Please do your part to make Dr. Jane's book the best-seller it deserves to be. And please, take the time to read it yourself. It will answer so very many of your questions.

UPDATE

THE CASHLESS SOCIETY

According to a recent item appearing in Associated Press, we are much closer to the system described in Revelation 13 than we can imagine. The following is reprinted from THE OAKLAND PRESS (Oakland County, Michigan), July 17, 1987. The headline read "Mom's dream: Homing device implanted in kids" It should have read "Christians' nightmare". Jews who recall the German number marking during World War II should recoil in horror as well!

MIAMI - A homing device implanted behind a child's ear could lead anxious parents to missing offspring, says a plastic surgeon with a patent on his idea.

Dr. Daniel Man said the device he envisions could also help police find parolees and relatives find victims of Alzheimer's disease who wander away.

Man, who is looking for a corporation to develop and produce a prototype, said Thursday he hasn't received any offers but private industry and government agencies have expressed interest in the patent he was awarded last month.

Prince Charles and Princess Diana

The July 1987 LADIES HOME JOURNAL has cast Diana the Princess of Wales into the role of heavy for failing to share her husband's interest in the New Age Movement.

he is ... striking out on his own in ways that exclude Diana. In fact, Charles, like so many of his generation who are still searching for the indefinable something that is missing from their lives, has begun to embrace much of the California New Age movement even before it has crossed the Atlantic. ... In the quest to fill the emptiness in his life, Charles is aided by a spiritual guru, Sir Laurens Van Der Post, a rather controversial figure who is also godfather to five-year-old Prince William, the couple's elder son. Van Der Post and Charles recently journeyed together to the Kalahari Desert to study African mysticism. It was a trip that left friends and acquaintances bemused. ... It was also a trip that left Diana cold, so she chose to stay home, something she has done more and more of late ...

HOMOSEXUALITY AND THE NEW AGE MOVEMENT

International Northwest GUIDE Magazine is a magazine catering to the Pacific Northwest gay and lesbian populations. A recent issue of that publication (May 1987) discussed the need for that segment to have "spirituality." You will never guess what the spirituality was. You just guessed right!

Lately, there has been increasing focus on what has popularly come to be called the 'New Age.' Under that name, held in uneasy embrace, are lumped together a variety of beliefs, religions, faiths, practices, and explorations. Whether you're a follower of some guru, a student of Zen or Tibetan Buddhism, or a pagan; whether you practice channeling like JZ, are a practitioner of Wicca, or are 'into' crystal or any of the myriad metaphysical disciplines, you are manifesting the spirit of the New Age. [Note: he said it, not me! I think sometimes these people have a better understanding of the scope of the New Age Movement than most Christians. CEC] ... "One might well ask if there is any unifying force or element among these disparate systems of belief. I believe there is and that it is the desire to be personally and spiritually empowered. ... The New Age movement is not an isolated event."

For men who love men and women who love women, our search is often to find a spiritual home and fellowship. Yet our senses of ourselves, our integrity and sense of goodness as human beings have been denied and violated so often by those who claim to be loving and spiritual leaders, that I think that we sometimes find it more difficult than most to embrace a spiritual path. The institutions which we have inherited from the society into which we were born rarely reflect and honor who we are. ...

What has the New Age to offer us? An opportunity to explore areas of ourselves not honored elsewhere ... Do you ache to find a spiritual tradition which actively embraces a new you, or in which your sexual orientation is no one's concern but yours? They do exist the New Age. ...

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN

Many times people are attracted to homosexuality after letting their spirituality slip. In this case, those in homosexuality are being urged to deliberately adopt New Age spiritualities as a means of legitimization of their sexual activity. This is not new. The Apostle Paul fought it in his day:

For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath showed it unto them. For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things. WHEREFORE GOD ALSO GAVE THEM UP TO UNCLEANNESSTHROUGH THE LUSTS OF THEIR OWN HEARTS, TO DISHONOUR THEIR OWN BODIES BETWEEN THEMSELVES: WHO CHANGED THE TRUTH OF GOD INTO A LIE, AND WORSHIPPED AND SERVED THE CREATURE MORE THAN THE CREATOR WHO IS BLESSED FOR EVER. AMEN. FOR THIS CAUSE GOD GAVE THEM UP UNTO VILE AFFECTIONS; FOR EVEN THEIR WOMEN DID CHANGE THE NATURAL USE INTO THAT WHICH IS AGAINST NATURE: AND LIKEWISE ALSO THE MEN, LEAVING THE NATURAL USE OF THE WOMAN, BURNED IN THEIR LUST ONE TOWARD ANOTHER; MEN WITH MEN WORKING THAT WHICH IS UNSEEMLY, AND RECEIVING IN THEMSELVES THAT RECOMPENSE OF THEIR ERROR WHICH WAS MEET.

AND EVEN AS THEY DID NOT LIKE TO RETAIN GOD IN THEIR KNOWLEDGE, GOD GAVE THEM OVER TO A REPROBATE MIND, TO DO THOSE THINGS WHICH ARE NOT CONVENIENT. ...

Albert Gore, Jr.

As this newsletter is being "put to bed," I have just watched via C-SPAN another New Ager make his declaration for the presidency, and a most impressive one it was. It was Senator Albert Gore. His opening (June 29th) campaign speech was made at Carthage, Tennessee. Videotaped by C. Cumbeys from C-Span, p.m. I was only half listening when the unmistakably New Age tenor of his speech caught my attention. Senator Gore, you will recall, was mentioned in my book, A PLANNED DECEPTION. Gore's said at the time of his campaign opening (6/29/87) in part:

The next president of the United States will face a unparalleled opportunity to do just that. For the first time in at least a generation the Soviet Union has a leader who combines youthful energy and innovation with experience and the free world urgently needs a leader who can match him, test him, bargain with him, and make the most of this possibly historic opportunity for a safer world.

We as Americans have always captured the imagination of people all over this earth. This election offers us a chance to demonstrate that we have a capacity for self-renewal and regeneration that the rest of the world can only dream about. Where we can dream, we can hope. Where we can hope, we can act. As we act together, we can grow.

We need leadership to heal the divisions among us and the most serious of those divisions is not between black and white, North and South, young and old, or rich and poor. This division is between those who look at the awesome challenges we confront, fear of the future and wonder whether or not we have it within ourselves to prevail and those who on the other hand look at the very same problems and feel welling up within them a commitment to work together to rekindle the American spirit and build a future with hope. It is in that spirit that I launch this campaign today. I am running to win and I want your help!

Senator Albert Gore is a close friend of John Naisbitt and his wife, Patricia Aburdene. He spoke at one of his New Age conferences. At that time, he said it was "time to rethink the nation-state system."

1988 should be an interesting election year. Unless God intervenes dramatically, heads the New Agers win! Tails they win!
